RHODE ISLAND ELECTION. The "straight" Republicans of Rhede very party will crow their loudest and claim But the truth will not bear them out

jubilation, as a consideration of facts

Republican party of Rhode Island is made up, as it is in most of the New England States of two elements: Free Soilers and North Americans. Instead of a fusion in that the tame of "American Republicans." The merican wing has been the most numerons, while the Republican has been the most ar me in the caucuses and conventions of the When united, they cast an over ning majority against the Democracy From stance, they polled 11,467 votes for Fremont against 6,680 for Buchanab, and 1,675 for Fillmore: a clear Republican maority of 3,112 over both.

At the election of 1857, the American Reblican candidate for Governor was elected by 4,498 majority. Again, in 1858, the same organization was successful by 4,362 majority. But in 1859 (last spring,) a quarrel took pla in their Convention. They agreed upon the same candidate for Governor and Attorney-General; and split on Lieut. Governor a The two factions had meanwhil the names of Radical and Conserva Republicans. At this election the can didates supported by both wings of the party, lected by 5,392 majority. The follow was the result on Lieut. Governor, o whom there was a split in the party:

nger wing of the party, by consider ble. At the Congressional election, last Spring the party united on a candidate in the Second and divided in the First District. In the former, Judge Brayton beat the Democratic andidate two to one. In the other District Bibinson, Conservative Republican, was elected, on the second trial, by the following vote:

ger party, while the Democrats had pretty much "gin eout."

The next election in Rhode Island was the which came off last Wednesday. A Convention was held in January, to nominate a State ticket The "Radicals" stole a march on the "Conservatives," and by superior activity and rates in the Convention. Whereupon they "straight" Republican ticket. The "Conser vatives" protested, and threatened to bolt unless they were allowed a fair representation. But all in vain. The "Radicals" grabbed the not let the other and larger party have erm a "smell of the mng." A This nwise and selfish action caused a bolt, as was threatened. The "Conservatives" held their own, or rather picked out three of the east objectionable of the regular nominees, repudiated the other three, and put up three idates in their stead-including Goverror and Lieut Governor. The Democracy met in State Convention on the same day, and canyass opened. It was clear from the first day after the Convention, that unless the great un support of the Radicals, the "straight," Regulfican ticket must be defeated. Because, in addition to their own proper strength, the Causeratives could count on the 7,000 Democrats and 1,600 Fillmoreites, who, combined, Sprage, the candidate of the conservative Republicans, is immensaly wealthy—said to several thousand hands in his works. He is said to have spent $100,000 to beat his radical "John Bro "nite," an "Irrepressible, Higher numbering some 3,000, added to the Democrats and Fillmoreites, carried the State.

The result of the election in Rhode Island fould admonish the National Convention to d a Radical Republican for President may re-alt in the loss of even New England States. If it does, this little check in Rhode-Island and the "close shave" in Connecticut may be the means of averting disaster in the national contest. As we have said on previous occasion, and again repeat, if our party would a respected, as well as the wishes and ideas of the more radical element.

SPRING ELECTIONS.

The Republicans achieved a giorous y in Beloit. They elected their Mayor, have, Superintendent, and 11 out of 12 means. The majority for Mayor is 64, as Chief Justice, has 802 majority.

Amout—The Republicans of Rubicon their ticket by a handsome majority.

CHICAGO, FRIDAY, APRIL 6, 1860.

Editors Press and Tribupe:

At our town election held yesterday the whole Republican vote east was 500—the Democratic Republican vote east was 500—the Democratic vote ran up as high as 14 for Supervisor, which is a most beautiful show (?) for our Democratic friends. St. Louis Election.

[From the Miscour Democrat.]

By reference to the returns elsewhere, it will be seen that the Free Democrats have carried the Fourth, Sixth, Seventh. Eighth and Ninth Wards. We have lost the Tenth, because there were two Free Soil candidates in the field—one of them in opposition to the regular nominee. The division of the Opposition in the Fifth resulted in itse manner, in the election of a third candidate, Mr. McBrude. Dreyer succeeds Grefenkamp in the Third, which, to say the least, as no cause of regret to us. There was no contest either in the First or Second—for reasons astifactory to the Free Democrats of these Wards.

We have won everywhere with the exception of the Third, and the two Wards in which there was a triangular contest. But decidedly the cream of the victory is the election of Green in the Minth. This has been called the banner ward of the Nationals, and it is now redeemed, regenerated and disenthrailed. This is worth all besides. It is but just to recognize the zeal and activity with which the free-soil veterans in the several Wards of their duty yeaterday.

The passenger accommodation is a little less and not much unlike the dation is a little less and not much unlike that furnished by one of the City Railway cars, the passengers sitting face to face, while between the seals in front is the wheel and steering ap-paratus. It is intended to run between Trairie Du Chien and St. Paul, and the really elegant Du Chien and St. Psul, and the really elegant appearance of the car is a prestry substantial pledge of somebody's confidence that it will make time over the frozen surface of the Father of Waters. The inventor is sanguine that it will accomplish thirty miles an hour on a smooth surface. How about "jammed ies" Mr. Wiard. We shall see what we shall see however.

A strong desire has been entertained in various quarters, since the matter met with a favorable reception at the hands of the Wissonni Legislature, that that State would give it a fair trial. The adjournment of the Legislature without taking final action on the subject, leaves it where it stood before—a mere speculative theory in regard to which a great deal can be said both pro and con. But the same fact which caused this early movement of the corn crop occasioned an additional draft on it for home consumption. It is well known that the farmers all through the State, instead of feeding their hogs on old corn had to supply them with new—some of it when just in the milk. This would take from fifteen to twenty millions of bushels; for the farmers COLLECTION LAWS.

It will be remembered that a bill for the abolition of the Wisconsin collection laws was discussed at considerable length in one branch of the Legislature of that State, at its recent session, and on a test motion a majority put themselves on record in favor of the measure. For some reason or other, instead of being committee, and never heard of afterward. It s not unlikely that the originators of the measure became alarmed at the sweeping changes which it proposed to inaugurate, and purpose-ly smothered the bill in committee to avoid

If this be so, it is not the first time in the history of legislation that men have suddenly abandoned a hobby which they have ridden for years, at the very moment when they had it in their power to give it the test of actual experiment Innumerable theories in political economy have been advanced, which looked well on on abstract principles, that have signally failed in practice. We are not prepared to assert that the proposal to dispense with all laws for the enforcement of contracts, is one of this class of theories, but it is evident that the

Wis-consin legislators were fearful that it might so prove on trial. To a great extent it would necessarily destroy the credit system. Confidance leaves man would sepend less upon their possessions than upon their reputation for genuine honesty and integrity. State, conducted upon this basis, would be of sufficient magnitude to insure the develop-ment of its resources, and to secure any cofarmers their usual stock to feed hogs next fall and winter.

Operators in Corn are in the habit of referring to 1856 as a guide, both as regards stocks and prices. In that year prices opened in Pebruary at 42@45c, and heavy contracts were made at those figures for April and May delivery. Navigation, however, opened late, and lake freights for corn to Buffalo were 12c, and to Oswego, 16c. But the corn shelfed in winter was rather soft and it became hot on the passage, and it was sold at Buffalo at 28@35c, and in New York at 40@45c—the market also rapidly failing here till River Corn has sold at 27c affoat and Railroad Corn at 25c in store. It is a bill providing that if the writer of a letter shall indorse on the back consumption. It is well take from fifteen to twenty millions of bushels; for the farmers are 100 per cent, more cora in the winter months than in the summer, and the wirarge consumption of corn in Himois is usually estimated at 80,000 bushels annually.

In estimating the corn crop of Illinois, the crop of 1855 is usually placed as the largest ever known. Of that crop in 1856, the receipts at Chicago amounted to only 1,098,864 bushels. the blow. Mr. Stewart at once stepped between them, and remonstrated with Hindman upon his conduct, when the latter gave as It is reason therefor the speech made by Van Wyck in the House recently. Mr. Van Wyck's friends express their regrets that he had not felled the ruffian to the ground. It is certainly to be hoped that this non-resistant policy will not be kept up long. If Northern members of Congress are to be held responsible on the street for "words spoken in debate," as seems to be the determination, let it be understood, and let them be prepared to defend the freedom of speech wherever it is assailed. So, many wre beginning to talk, with whom to talk is to act.

If there should be any complaint that the Republicans are too severe upon the President in regard to his message, let it be understood that there was a strong disposition among the South Americans to take up the matter at once, and denounce him in unqualified terms for his viclation of the dignity of the House. Brave old John Schwartz, of the Anti-Lecompton Democrats, was also in favor of this policy. In fact, among the entire opposition, as well as among many Douglas Democrats whose lips are sealed by the command of their master, Mr. Sherman's motion to refer the document to a standing committee, is considered a very moderate morement, and much better than the old reprobate had any right to expect.

I did not wish you to understand me as saying that Mr. McClernand is opposed to problish ting pelygamy in Utab—oh, no! He is down on it there, and so is Branch, and so, I pressure, are all the Democracy. But Mae is, as all the Democrats from Illinois are, in favor of polygamy in other territories 'Sodon and Gomorah, with all their dammable abominations, the cry of "nonintervention" would be raised by modern Democracy. We are all locking h with only a slight variation.
While Mr. Murdock was reading from Hamlet, before the Ladies Mount Vernon Society and qubting the passage commencing: "Why, what a rogue and peasant slave am I," as illustrative of the insanity of Hamlet, he was seized with a rush of blood to the bead, and for a few momenta he suffered a mental aberration; but revired again after repeating some incoherentex, pressions, and resumed the thread of the text. The large lecture-hall of the Smithsonian Institute was filled to its atmost capacity.

Speaking of the Smithsonian, reminds me of a crying abuse on the pixt of the managers of that inssitution. They haven't invited a live lecturer there within the memory of the oldest inhibitant. They extend invitations to none but old fossil pedantic pedagogues, who lecture on shells, or stones, or clay, in the duliest, heaviest, prosinest style, and manage to draw very select but devillah small anchences, consisting of old fogies and old maids. The thing is a great bore as it is now conducted.

etc. These all are bache plan, etc. These all are bachelors; and ired rooms, and board at Pfaff's.

Did you never hear of Pfaff's? The ows and their friends have made his lows and their friends have made his fortune. He is the keeper of a large basement German Restaurant on Breedway. Here the Hohemians board—at least they all meet here to dine, at 5 o'clock every afterneon. A large vaulted room under the sidewalk, is appropriated to their use. There, at the head of a long table, sits Clapp, Jr., while his neophytes range themselves reverently along the sides. After the beef-steak and onloss are disposed of, pipes, beer, brandy and German wines, are brought in and the evening commences in carnest. Thus

To the surprise of many, Roger A. Pryor folowed Millson in a speech supposting the bill, and commenting with considerable severity upon Mr. Taylor's course. He did not allude to McClernand, but took direct issue with the las man.

Emerson Etheridge, of Tenn., next obtained the floor; and it being understood that he was to make a set speech—the first he has made during the seasion—there was a great rush to the Republican side of the House, from which he spoke. Republican side of the House, from which he spoke. The effort was a very fine one. It was nierspersed with many a velt of his quaint humor, which frequently set the House in a roar; while the argument was unusually able. He reviewed the history of the territorial policy of the Democratic party, referring with inimitable satire to those years during which he was pursued with relentiess malignity and denounced as untrue to the South because he would not acknowledge this principle of Squatter Sovereignty which the united Democracy of the South now seout and spit upon. He attributed the present unhappy state of feeling in the Union entirely to the repeal of the Missouri Compromise and the incorporation lote the legislation of the country of Senator Douglas's dogms, which had successively cheated the North and the South. When Congress relinquished her control over the Territories, said he, commenced the period of gloom which has since reigned. He held up before the Democracy a glass in which they could see mirrored their inconsistency and the antagonisms that were rending their organization in twain; and after having abown the Southern wing that they were responsible for the first engrafting of the Squatter Sovereignty policy upon the Democratic party, he proceeded is make the Northern wing the

be proceeded to make the Northerate party, the proceeded to make the Northera wing feel uncomfortable by demonstrating an incortrovertibly that every Democrat who voted for any bill abolishing polygamy in any Territory, thereby acknowledged the power of Congress to legislate for the regulation of the "domestie institutions" of the Territories. Mr. Etheridge keenly enjoyed the broiling of his ancient enmes upon this uply gridiron. They squirmed terribly during this speech. It was the best exposure of modern Democracy, its subterfuges, hypocrist, shameless inconsistency, and rideulous incongruities, that has yet been made at this assains from a Southern point of view.

Miles Taylor followed Mr. Etheridge in a tedious effort to defend his Squatter Sovereiguty position. McClernand struggled all day to get the floor, but finally snoceeded in obtaining it for the next occasion when this bill comes before the House. Mac's precise position is rather dubious, but he will oppose the bill strongly. I rather think he is going to come the "religious rite" dodge, as Hooper, the delegate from Utah, stated on the floor of the House to-day that polygamy was a part of the Mosmon religion.

To morrow the question of the admission of Kansas comes up.

ckless Lagislation at Albany-The fi mone Gridtron Bill-Some account of ti Bohemians of New York-Life at Pfall - Hidnight Bevelings and French Mo [Correspondence of the Press and Tribune.]

NEW YORK, Monday, April 2, 1860.

If the Legislature, now in session at Alban were governed by a Democratic majority, then is no doubt but that our Republican friend would be very loud in their denunciation of its reckless action in relation to this city. As it is, they are forced to join agmewhat in the outery oticeable of these is the famous, or infamou Gridfron bill, originating with that prince of schemers—George Law. The Herald is not far from right, when it says that "Live Oak George" makes a million a year in buying and selling Congressmen and Legislators. The bill in constitue antherizes the formation of six parts. rough sections of more than sixty streets an completely as would any man who should be súddenly turned upside-down by a giant, and ordered to walk on his hands in place of his feet. Other equally surprising features have marked the present Albany session. Without doubt, Gov. Morgan will veto either of the bills I have named, should the two Hous: a be insane enough to pass them.

The Governor's refusal to commute the punishment of Crimmins, who was hung at the Toombs on Friday, has excited much remark. Crimmins was convicted of murder by the jury, Parisian model.

Teombs on Friday, has excited much remark. Crimmins was convicted of marder by the jury, with a "recommendation to mercy." The verdict was on purely technical grounds, and not a man of the twelve supposed that the prisoner would ever be hung. All of them, the judge who sentenced him, and other prominent judges, united in a petition to the mercy of the Governor. The prisoner, when he committed the homicide, was caraged by the foul language used in relation to his wife, and nine men out of ten would have done precisely as he did. Gov. Morgan refused to interfere on the unprecedented ground that the jury, in recommending to mercy, had gone beyond their duty and undertaken to dictate as to the use of his prerogative.

I have been for some time intending to make a brief allusion to a class of young New York literateurs, of both soxes, who form a clique by themselves, and, in virtue of their defiance of all other cliques, all recognized standards of criticism and morality, and of their generally vagabondish characteristics, consider themselves entitled to be called Bohrmans—a name in which they glory, yet sadly misapply. For your genuise Bohemina is found all over the world; will not be one of a clique, even in scorn of other cliques, is not necessarily an ignorer of means and team—may possibly, though living humbly, choose to pay his way. In short the true Bohemian seems to me one, who, from love of an art and natural life, does not strive for wealth or to mingle in convential society; whose philosophy leads him to be content and jolly in any station, so long as he maintains a formal self-respect and integrity. There are certain Bohemian follies of prodigality of want and forethought, and our self-styled New York Bohemians have chosen to carry the follies to excess and to let the virtues go by.

Though the title "Bohemia" originated in Paris, yet the London Athenseum says: "Bons-Mia, as we suppose every one is sware, is a cant

Though the title "Bohemia" originated in Paris, yet the London Athenaum says: "Bons. Mia, as we suppose every one is aware, is a cant term for a section of London—the part inhabited by clever fellows with much reputation and pretty women with very little: by the classes who are said 'to live by their wits "-journalists and actors, dancers and artists."

It is the London Bohemia which our young people emulate. They are composed of the classes above mentioned, mostly from and raised in the moral country districts, but who, infused with the loase French notions of a modern literary education, have rushed to the metropolis, in which immensity they find congenial society, and live as recklessly and carousingly as in Paris itself, with no one to criticise or make them atraid. Prominent among them are the leaders, writers and hangers—on of Vanty Fair and the Saturday Press. H. Clapp, Jr., the editor of the latter fast and Frenchy sheet, is their acknowledged Jupiter Tonans. He is an educated, sharp cynical fellow, forty years of age, brownhaired, red bearded, dogmatic and branges, but really brilliantin conversation. Disappointed in early ambition, he has unfortunately lost all carnestness in life and all faith in God, man or woman. A pipe and a satirical jest are dearer to him than asything else. His comrades and astallites—all young, and loving life all fellows of talent, but superficial education, are:—handsome George Araold, poet and Fandige Talestown correspondent of the Tibosis;

Bemocratic Outrage at New Haves.

"On Thursday night," says the Palladium, when the Fair Histen Wide Awakes, some seventy four in number, had crossed the dyke and were passing through that part of Grand street inhabited almost exclusively by Democrats, a mob of rowdies collected from the neighborhood, attacked the procession, showered stones and brickbats upon it for a distance of several blocks, and did not desist from their infercal and covarely outrages until about twenty man of the procession had been knocked down and more or less injured! One man had his head hadly cut by a brickbat, after one other had struck him an the back; another had a terrible blow on the eye and cheek by a stone, after he had been hit a veral times without serious injury; another was hit twice by brickbats, and was at last felled by a bourder which struck him on the head, inflicting a serious injury. Some were so badly burt that they could not stand, and had to be carried until the company reached the doctor's; others bound up their wounds as well as they could and stuck to the ranks, though suffering considerably; and before the body joined the main procession their number was reduced to forty-two!

Some of the party were struck several times.

Some years ago, the pianist, Gottschilke, tarried a few weeks in the Southern city where she was residing. There meeting him, she lost heart at first sight, and when her family discovered this and sought to restrain her the girl field from home, followed by the hand some musician to the North, and declared she would stay with him forever. and the evening commences in earnest. Thus are eliminated all the Saturday Prices severities and the jokes of Fanish Fair. Laughter, song, and wit run riot, and the scene closely resembles the London gathering described by Bulwer in "My Noes."

Do not suppose that men alone form this nightly circle. Les Bohomisans—the wild and pretty modern literary women—cliow the example of their Parisian prototypes, and do not hesitate to come belidy down, in secon of all propriety and usage, ray on the table for their steaks, smoke eigarettes, sing opera refrains, call and be called by their Christian names, jest, revel, poetic, laugh and weep, and so tarry long beyond the midnight hour, with their harom-searum brothers of the penuli and quill.

Chief among these is she, whom they have crowned "Queen of Bohemia"—Miss And Caans—now becoming well known by her spirited but dangerous writings, whose morality is that of the most piquant French type, and whose life is an illustration of her morality.

"Ad a Clara" is a pseudonym, though the public de not know the fact. The lady who bears it was the darling of a wealthy, sristocratic Southern family. She is a tall, magnificently would stay with him forever. With considerable Southern spirit, she wrote to her friends that they need never feel ashamed on her account, for she had changed her name to "Ada Clare." She accompanied Gottachalk to Europe, but soon returned with no other companion than an infant—a perpetual memento of the truth that she had "loved not wisely, but too well." To this quotation, however, the high-strung Ada does not subscribe, but boldly arows that a woman has the right to choose the father of her own child, and that she has netting to regret. She says that Gottachalk is "a subline soul," and proudly shows her little one to those who are introduced to her, pointing out its resemblance to the features of its sire, which are displayed in a breastpin that she always wears. She has a large income, in her own right, from a Southern estate, and lives in her own house in royal style, being, as I said before, the acknowledged Queen of the Bohemians. Her rown house in royal style, being, as I said before, the acknowledged Queen of the Bohemians. Her restless genius would not allow her to lead an idle life, and she first adopted the profession of an actrees, under the auspices of Miss Laura Keene. Not having the precise training and other journals are full of originality, though intensely "spasmodic," and she seems bound to win her way. Around her gather all the young ones I have named above, each of whom is her adorer. Several other women, of less note and talent, make up the Bohemian crowd.

But the effects of all this unrestrained and the adorer. Several other women, of less note and talent, make up the Bohemian crowd.

But the effects of all this unrestrained and careless reveiling—this defiance of American opinion and good morals—are just what everyone would expect. What terribly dangerous companions for a youth just come to the city, ambitious for literary associations and fame!

Many a one has been swept into the vortex of their dissipation and ruiced in a sesson. None their dissipation and ruiced in a sesson. Some the less severely does the punishment fall upon the Bohemians themselves. Writing only for each other, living for the excitement of the hour, no great or permanent literary success, is sittained. Youth slips prematurely away, character is lost, virtue a wreck.

All this is not only true, but aenounced and defended by the participators. And thus the young writers of the town, in their sphere, like the wealthy leaders of fashion in theirs, approach daily nearer and more near to their Parkism model. Rawlings introduced him to me. He asked me what was the public feeting towards him? I replied that I would speak frankly with him; that I was, as he well knew, opposed to his political principles, and could not stade by him in any way; but that my personal feelings were kind towards him. I had not talked with the committee, but I had spoken to some in their confidence, and the feeling of bitterness against him was greater than ever on account of his return, I was told and that I hoped he would leave the State for his own eafert as well as to avoid the State for his own eafert as well as to avoid Whilst there, Messrs. Broaddus and Newland came in to see me, when I expressed the same riews. I sent for G. W. Maupin, an old hunting companion, to spend the night with us, and to have a friendly talk about the whole matter, as I knew he was one of the Committee, and had acted the part of a peace-maker when Tony was attacked in the first raid at Berea, as I wastold. I then explained to G. W. Maupin, in the presence of St. Newland and Whitt Moody, my witten routing as law had not read we Prank.

whole postion, as he had not read my Frankfort speech. I told him that he was one of a revolutionary committee; that I should not interiere with their action, if they confied themselves to the expulsion of the "Radicais;" but that if the Committee attacked us, the Republicans, on account of our principles, that we would de'end ourselves to the last; and that in such defense, we'd shoot him, Reuben Minday, Tarrill, or any other one of the Cotamittee who aided and abetted any assassination of any one of my party; that I was for peace; that I had told our freends at Berea, that wheever stood in detense of Hanson, would do so at his own rick,
and we would not stand by him; but that it they cleared thenselves of Hanson, and were statacked in their own right, that we would make a common cause—we would take to the woods, and defend ourselves to the death.

This, men of Madison, is my whole connection with the Radicals of Berea. All the time uguinst their doctrine—all the time for the peace and safe yof the community.

On Monday night I stand with my sister, Smith. On Tuesday, hearing that the exe tement was mostly against me, and that I was thought to have citizeted the letter of Hanson to Judge Field, with a view to bring on the war,
I made my remarks at the court house to clear the popular mind of all apprehensions. The folsehood of the whole allegation is apparent, when you will see by the letter to Judge Field that it is dated on the lish inst, two weeks ago, when I had neither seen nor known Hanson, nor been at Berea since my Northern tour, and, therefore, could not possibly have had any intercurase with him.

Now, it turns out just as I had expected, from what was said by Mr. Newton, in Richmond, on Wednesday morning last, in the presence of G.
W. Maupin and others—that the Republicans had notting to do with Hanson, were for p-ace,
and longht in their own ofence.

The Republicans say (which was admitted to me by one of their party) their houses were radely searched; and I give you here a copy of a

name to the place of my birth, and which you were not the last to welcome as part of the common giory of the State. You may be strong, anough to everpower me; you cannot drive me from the duty which I owe to myself, to my friedds and to my county. If I fail, it rust I shall not fall in was; and it will be enough for all my leay-cherished aspirations, if perchance my blood shall atoms for the wrongs of my race, and those States shall at has be free.

STATEMENTS TO BE PERISHER BY APPLICANTS
TOR PREMIUMS ON FARM CROPS:

1. The land shall be in one contiguous piece, measured by some competent person, who shall make affidavit of the accuracy of the measurement, and the quantity of the ground.

2. The applicant shall make affidavit, according to the forms annexed, to the anastity of ing to the forms annexed, to the quantity of grain raised on the ground, entered on the premium list, which must accompany the appli-cation for premiums, together with a sample of cation for premiums, together with a sample of the grain.

5. The object of the Society being to promote profitable cultivation, they do not propose to offer premiums for crops produced by extrawgast expenditure; therefore, a detailed certified account of the expense of cultivation must be made. The expense of labor and manure should be particularly stated, and the kind of manure used. The statement must be in the following form:

4. The kind and condition of the soil; the quantity and kind of seed used; the time and mode of putting it in the ground, should be particularly stated

Samples of grain and vegetables produced, to be exhibited at the State Fair where practicable, and also to be sent to the rooms of the Board at the January, 1860 meeting.

5. All the grain grown on the entire piece of land measured must be weighed, and not the product of a square rod or two weighed or measured, and the remainder guessed at. Corn to be measured in the ear, and an average specimen of not least than twenty busbels of cars shelled, cleaned, and weighed as above, after the 15th of November, and the number of bushels thus estimated stated in the sificavit.

Justice. County, ss.—C. D., being duly sworn, says that he raised a crop of the past season, upon the land measured by A. B., and that the quantity of grain raised thereon was bushele, and no more, weighed, (or measured in a sealed half bushele, as the case may be,) and that the statements in regard to the manner of cultivation, etc., are correct to the best of my knowledge. The Poisoning Case in New Orleans—
[From the New Orleans Pleayus, March 28.]

The deadly poison administered to Colonel Lemley's family and his guests has not yet completed its work of destruction. We learn from yood authority that Miss Young was in a dying condition last night.

Colonel Lemley was seized with convulsions during the night, and gro...tears are entertained this morning as to his succumbing also. It is difficult to predict the result as to most all the sufferers. At times their condition improves apparently, so as to brig hope to their friends, and then again it grows worse, keeping them in a state of ornel anxiety and suspense.

The mind shudders at the thought of this revoking orime. To satisfy her hatred and blind revenue for imaginary wrongs, the cruel perpetrator of this henious deed has said desolution to many a family hearth; children are left orphans, deprived of their natural guardians and guides; young girls, on the very threshold of womanhood, who had not yet tasted of life is bitter trials, but saw before them the golden prospects of its jor's and pleasures, have been cut down unnerefully; innocent babes, who could have given offence to no one, without in the tortures of a terrible and unknown disease, and closed their eyes in the arms of the frantic mother, who sees herself robbed of her last joy.

MURDER OF A YOUNG GIRL AT OTTURWA—MYSERIOUS AFFAIR.—We lears from the Burlington fusickeys once particulars of a disbotical nurrer perpetrated a: Ottumwa, on Thursday night, Desmones river, lorged on some rooks about twenty feet below the ford, at Ottumwa. On taking the body from the water, it was found that the skull was broken, one eye very much bruised and fluger marks upon her throat. A person who lives near the ford states that about eleven o'clock on Thursday night he saw a war gon pass the ford, and soon thereafter return, and which he supposes contained the parties in question, since which time the men have not been seen or heard of. The name of the murdered girl and that of the men are unknown, as is also the case as to whare they came from or where they belong. Circumstances indicate that the girl was from Rockitord, ill, or had lived there. She was known by the name of Dors, was five feet, two or three inches high, fair complexion, suburn hair, good looking, and is or 19 years old.

On Friday evening, a mas was arrested at Burlington who was supposed to be one of the men in company with the mardered girl. He

To this irregularity another is added, viz: that of wearing the hats called a la Covar, which are considered as the emblem of the party opposed to the Imperial and Royal Government. The notice enjoins all to conform exactly to the Imperial order as regards the heard; and orden that they cannot, moreover, on any secount, be allowed to wear hats a la Cosoon. For breaches of this order, disciplinary punishments are prescribed.

TWELVE CRURGHES SINCLYANSOUSLY STRUCK BY LORINING.—In a debate which recently occurred in the House of Commons, on the subject of protecting public buildings against lightning, Mr. Freeland, a member, read the substance of a dispatch from the English Minister at Brussels, stating that on the third Sunday in February a violent thunder storm, accompanied by an unprecedented heavy fail of snow, had overspread Belgium, and that twoire churches had been simultaneously struck by lightning. The incident was quoted for the purpo e of urging upon the Board of Public Works the necessity of protecting the public buildings with lightning conductors.

Tunnelling the Hoosic Mountains. A great work is now in progress on the road of the Troy and Greenfield raisway designed for the purpose of confecting the former places with Boston. The test's undertaken is nothing less than the tunneling of the southern part of the tunnel to be constructed is 35,000 feet. The character of the rock to be tunneled is mostly ta'cose slate or mice slate. The position of the strate of the rock is nearly vertical. Washrorox, April 5.—The Democratic National Committee met this morning; 37 States are represented. Geo. A. Caldwell, of K.J., was always Chairman pro tem., in the absence of Judge Smalley, and C. L. Vallandigham, Secretary. It was unanimously resolved, that it is inexpedient, under existing circumstances, to change the place for bolding the Democratic Convention from Charleston to any other place. The Committee adjourned to meet at Charleston, on the 21st, at 10 o'clock, in the Grand Lodge room of the Masonie Hall, which has been tendered and accepted for the use of the Committee. Previous to action on the property of the Committee. of American law.

Mr. Hooper said that in the proper time, which would soon come, when he sould be heard without prejudice, he would defend the people of Uah from the calumnies which had been heaped upon them. In the measurine, he appealed to the dispassionate and unbiassed udgment of the House to this tetter of the deposition of the House to this tetter of the deen represented by their calumnies. It was this into this intention to discuss the enemy service when the property of the control of the service when the property of the property of the service when the property of the proper districtions in Charleston, concerning accommodations for visito s. He had received numerous letters on the subject. Gentlement of Baltimore, Philadelphia, Richmond, St. Louis and Louis-ville had presented inducements for changing the place of meeting to those cities. It might be stated that gentlemen from Charleston would, as far as they could, extend their hospitality to delegates.

Mr. Askmore stated to the Committee that he had spared at the summons of the Secretary, but did not regard himself a member. He had met the Executive Committee at its first meeting as the substitute of Hon. B. H. Wilson, a memoer of said Committee from South Carolina, as expressed in his letter, for meet in Charleston. He therefore regards thouself as limited to the single act of fixing the time, which had been done, and not regarding the single of participating further than to say a matter of information, that he has read many letters from gentlemen from Charleston of the Convention party, who assured him that the hospitalities of that party would be extended.

South Carolina, who, he thought, were una mous in opposing the change, if not in oil States. He had been also meet a proposing the change, if not in oil States. He had been also meet a proposition of the hotels would charge only $3 p diem, but yesterday he had received private it are saying that certain houses had been fifte up for entertainment for $5 and $2 per day, in cluding lodging and beedding. The landiords of the city claimed the high price of provisions as an excuse for the charges. He should not discuss this question, however, and as he should decline acting upon any of the propositions before the committee, would withdraw.

The President to day transmitted to the Senate for ratification the recently concluded treaty of commerce with Hondaras, which was referred to the Cummittee on Foreign Relations. Although the Nicaranguan and Mexican treat is have received no attention from the Senate or weeks past, it is the apinion of some Senators that it is probable they will both be relief. bill.
